

The End of the Rainbow

Leave behind the high-rise bustle of most popular vacation spots, and dig your toes into the coloured sands of Rainbow Beach. On the doorstep of the World Heritage Area of Fraser Island, Rainbow Beach brings you up-close-and-personal with Australia's most stunning natural settings.

At the Northern end of the Cooloola section of the Great Sandy Straits National Park, the beach is your back garden as it sweeps along the coast for thirty unspoiled kilometres. This is the last surfing beach before the Great Barrier Reef, and only a stone's throw from your choice of accommodation.

HOLIDAY VILLAGE

RAINBOW BEACH

Something For Everybody

Anglers

Rainbow Beach provides an abundance of fishing venues, and trophy catches!

Hikers

- Step straight into the National Park to explore Carlo Sand Blow, named by Captain Cook on his voyage of discovery of the east coast of Australia.
- Visit the freshwater lakes of Poona and Freshwater.
- Enjoy the timeless beauty of the coloured sand cliffs.
- Trek through scribbly gum forest, ancient palm groves, and dense rainforest.

Birders

With over 250 species of birds, this sub-tropical paradise offers exciting discoveries for beginners and seasoned bird-watchers alike.

Touring enthusiasts

- Enjoy a catered day trip to Fraser Island, the largest sand island in the world
- Or rent a 4WD with permit and go it alone!
- Don't return the 4WD until you have explored Rainbow Beach and Forty Mile Beach on the southern side of Double Island Point.
